URGES ECONOMIC
W. EUROPE UNION

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Rep. Mansfield (D) Mont., called today for an economic union of western European nations, including Germany, and an end to Marshall Plan assistance in 1952.

Mansfield, just returned from a tour of Europe as a one-man working committee, made his proposals in a report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

His recommendations follow closely the official line of the administration, although, in some matters, he anticipates official attitudes.

Highlights Of Program

Highlights of Mansfield's recommendations:

1. Customs barriers in western union should be removed and an economic union be brought into being—including western Germany.
2. ERP should cease in 1952.
3. Civilian personnel forces should be reduced in Germany and the military forces in Austria cut down by 50 per cent.
4. Occupation troops in Germany and Austria should be taken "off the streets" and put on maneuvers.
5. France and Britain should try to work with west Germany "on a western European sustaining basis."
6. The U. S. will have to consider seriously the import of more goods from western Europe as the Buddy Snyder, aged 15, R.D. 1, Edenburg, returned from Warren over the past week end with a 120 pound doe which he shot.

Mrs. Charles H. Schweinsberg of 1041 Adams street proved as adept as some male hunters last week. Accompanying her husband on a hunting trip to Venango county she shot a doe which weighed approximately 150 pounds.

Theodore Lelenko, 1108 Cunningham avenue, went mushroom hunting after the rain Monday and came up with a half bushel of Polish mushrooms from one stump in Little Beaver township. Mr. Lelenko reports that this is very late in the year to find mushrooms.

Christmas lighting effects are beginning to appear at homes around the city and community.

Local streams were at a little higher stage yesterday than they have been for months, due to the recent rains.

Most of the churches will present the Christmas program on next Sunday, it is indicated.

Emil Hike, Jr., aged 12 years, of 708 State street, was one of the youngest hunters in the city to bag a deer during the recent season. He bagged a doe in Pulaski township, while hunting with Robert Hall, of 1304 West State street, who also bagged a nice doe.

An automatic traffic count on the Mt. Jackson-Enon Valley road is being made by the state highway department. The count is a part of a general county wide survey being made by the state highway department.

Dutch Motor Ship Explodes
And Sinks In Atlantic—
Eight Of Crew Found

MIAMI, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Four coast guard rescue planes took off early today to begin a search for possible survivors of the Dutch motorship Doros which exploded and sank some 350 miles off the Florida coast Monday.

Eight crewmen were picked up yesterday by the tanker SS Sparrows Point. The radio message of the rescue—picked up in Miami and Baltimore—was the first news of the disaster.

The U. S. customs house in New York said the Doros sailed from there at midnight last Thursday with 24 men aboard bound for Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

Two seaplanes left Miami at 4 a. m. and two more took off from St. Petersburg at 3 a. m. An air force plane from MacDill Field, Tampa, also was expected to join the search.

The coast guard cutter Mocoma raced to the scene of the explosion last night, and an all-ships broadcast diverted other nearby vessels to the area.

Three-Day Work
Week Continues
In Nation's Mines

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—A possible capitulation by small Pittsburgh district soft coal operators to the United Mine Workers "Kentucky formula" appeared unlikely today as most of the nation's miners continued a three-day work week.

Some Pittsburgh area independent operators were reported prepared to meet tonight to talk over possible organization of a trade group similar to the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association, which has refused to sign contracts with the UMW.

Only Eight Attend
Only eight operators were reported to have attended a meeting called yesterday in Pittsburgh by John P. Busarello, UMW District 5 president, who had indicated 25 to 30 small producers were agreeable to signing in order to resume five-day operations.

UMW President John L. Lewis was in New York, attending the negotiations between the union and anthracite operators.

Lewis announced yesterday that additional operators in the nation have signed contracts with his union. He said their tonnage output totals 2,041,056 tons annually. This means the UMW leader has concluded contracts with operators who yearly produce 11,203,956 tons or just more than two per cent of the industry's 550,000,000 tons.

'Dollar Does It'
Continues To Increase Fund

"Dollar Does It" continued to add to the Community Chest goal of $127,350 yesterday with stepped-up total of $178 added for the day's activity.
The total raised to date in the fund campaign for 13 welfare agencies is $102,124.

A retired school teacher added her bit to the drive yesterday and an out-of-town salesman came up with a five dollar contribution because he thought that this was a good town and he admired the efforts of Chest workers who are volunteering so much of their time in an effort to meet the goal.

Perhaps daily contributions of less than $200 do not appear to amount to much with the drive still more than $26,000 short of its goal. However since the initiation of "Dollar Does It," more than $2,000 have been added to the Chest and its still going.
A dollar from each family in the area served by the Chest agencies would soon end the drive with a full quota.

'Wildcat' Strike
Decreases London
Electric Service

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—A "wildcat" strike cut London's electricity supply today for the third straight day and the labor government mobilized troops to take over all 28 power plants in the city if necessary.

Hopes for an early end to the walkout were dimmed when workers at the big Barking power plant voted to continue their strike. It was feared the strike might spread and paralyze London and south-east Britain.

Ammonia Fumes
Escape Tank Car
In Oakland, Cal.

Police Race Through West
Oakland Warning Citizens
Of Danger

SOME CITIZENS
ARE OVERCOME

(BULLETIN)
OAKLAND, Cal. Dec. 14.—(INS)—The lives of more than 1,000 persons were threatened today by a cloud of deadly fumes from a leaky valve on an ammonia tank car in west Oakland.

More than 20 police cars raced through a mile square residential area with sirens screaming in a mechanized "Ride of Paul Revere" to warn them of imminent danger.

Five men were hospitalized when they were overcome by the dangerous fumes and scores of people vomited on the streets from the effects of the deadly gas.

The warning was prompted by Oakland Battalion Fire Chief Thomas Dolan who noticed the ammonia leaking from a valve on a 27-ton tank car on a siding at the Best Fertilizer Company at West Oakland.

A plant foreman of the company, Frank Galubia, 26, of Oakland was the hero of the affair. Galubia, after another official had failed, donned a gas mask and a heavy canvas.

He advanced to the car and threw the canvas over the leaking valve and turned off a main valve on the car effectively stopping the leak.

Firemen played streams of water on him during the operation to dissipate the ammonia gas. Galubia collapsed when he finished the job.

There are folks who go south in the winter, to escape from the ice and the snow, and they are the folks as you may realize who are loaded with plenty of dough. But the cost to the birds is no money, they simply take off and are gone, they feed on the country as they make their way, they lurch as they flitter along. But today I saw one who was different a bird who was staying right here, apparently he thought the weather was right and the skies were all azure and clear. He may be a rebel in birdlife but here he says he's going to stay, while his fellows are down where the sun's on the job, it's thirty two chilly today.

Grove City Dean Dies Suddenly At Residence Today

Dr. Alva J. Calderwood, Former County Resident, With School More Than Half Century

Dr. Alva J. Calderwood, dean of Grove City College, died suddenly at his home about 6 a.m. today in Grove City.

Dr. Calderwood who was actively connected with the school from the time of his graduation in 1896 until the time of death, held a very highly respected place in the community in which he worked and lived.

Born near New Bedford, he was a son of the late William and Esther Calderwood. Following graduation from Grove City College in 1896, he immediately became an instructor in the college. For many years he served as professor of Latin, later advancing to the position he held at the time of his death, remaining active in the school until the end. The only time he was away from his school work was for a period, when he took post-graduate work at Harvard, Yale and the University of Rome.

He worked very closely with Dr. Isaac C. Ketter, founder of the school and was closely associated in his work with the present president, Dr. Weir C. Ketter. Professor Calderwood was a member of the session of the Grove City U.P. church, taking an active part in church affairs.

The late dean is survived by his widow, the former Leonora Neal, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Neal, former residents of Fulaski township; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Harker, wife of Dr. J. Stanley Harker, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Hamilton, Ohio and a son, Attorney John N. Calderwood, New York City.

Six grandchildren and two sisters, Frances M. and Clara A. Calderwood of Grove City, also survive.

Extensive strip mining operations are underway on the Strawhecker farm in North Beaver Township between Mt. Jackson and Enon Valley, Pa. Newc observes. Work has been going on for the past ten days with a large power shovel opening the ground quite rapidly.

Howard Hetrick, 910 Emery street, reports he brought down a five point buck on the closing day of the male deer season last Friday. It weighed around 150 pounds. On Saturday, two members of the same hunting party, Robert Hetrick of Vine street and Jack Gallagher of Crowfoot avenue bagged a doe each.

Local shoppers cannot be too careful these busy days as to where they lay their purses and bundles, as petty thievery is on the increase at this time of the year. Large sums of money should not be displayed in stores or other public places which might tempt individuals to strong arm tactics.

In traveling about the rural sections of the county, Pa. Newc notes that the new school bus law is being observed quite rigidly by district motorists. When the bus is discharging children, motorists to the rear of the bus and those traveling toward it to the front are required to come to a stop. Many lives will be evidently saved among children through the law.

Miss Mary K. She can best be secured through milk, and the minimum amount should be around three glasses of milk a day. It would take over four pounds of cabbage or 20 oranges or 30 eggs to produce a like amount, she pointed out.

R. C. Blaney, assistant director of agricultural extension at Penn State college, spoke on the need for farmers to keep up with current methods, in spite of the increase in education which rural folks receive, and spoke of the services which the extension association offers.

The meeting was concluded with an illustrated talk by Randolph Thompson, Extension wildlife specialist, which showed Pennsylvania animals in their native habitat, and their habits and peculiarities.

a "stalemate" with destruction far surpassing that of the recent war. He added that the only chance of avoiding World War Three is through Atlantic Union, "a super-government of the democracies who entered into the North Atlantic Pact."

Urey, whose basic research on "heavy water" and uranium 235 greatly contributed to the development of the atomic bomb, predicted that another war is "almost a certain one if we do nothing but drift along."

The noted scientist told a news conference that an Atlantic Union would create such an "unbalance of power" that the Soviet Union would probably not attack it.

He expressed the opinion that it is impossible to achieve results by inviting the Soviet Union to join a super-government, but expressed the hope the "new revolutionary idea" would permeate the Russian people and cause them to overthrow "their ruthless dictatorship."

Urey said the Atlantic Union committee, under whose sponsorship he will address a public meeting tonight in Washington, had been advised that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would hold hearings in January on world government proposals.

PRESIDENT WILL ASK OVERHAULING OF TAX STRUCTURE

"modernization and streamlining". One of the objectives will be to wipe out duplication of taxes, hidden levies and some of the extra time excise tax burden as a stimulus to business in general.

The presidential tax policy now under study includes the theory that the greater tax burden should be borne by those most able to pay.

He has no personal objection to the removal or reduction of wartime excise taxes, as such. But he is insistent that such taxes not be removed either piecemeal or in a package unless the resultant revenue loss—ranging from $800,000,000 to over a billion dollars—is replaced from other sources.

To Ask New Taxes

His intimates indicate there is no disposition on the part of the President to "back water" on his firm conviction that the extraordinary demands on the federal purse brought on "by past wars and try to prevent future wars", should be met on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Mr. Truman is expected to ask the Congress for upwards of five billion dollars in new taxes, with the alternative possibility that the nation continue huge deficit-financing into a second peacetime year, with the huge national debt mounting steadily.

Any request for new taxes would be increased levies on corporations and the higher and middle income brackets.

The President believes firmly that, with constantly increasing demands on the treasury for defense and foreign aid, the time has now come for a thorough overhauling and modernization of the tax structure.

Three Children Burned To Death At Connellsville

CONNELLVILLE, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Three children burned to death when fire resulting from an oil stove explosion destroyed a two-room bungalow in nearby Breakneck.

The explosion occurred during the five-minute absence of their mother who was at a neighbor's, getting water. A passing motorist spotted the flames which enveloped the home and attracted the mother and neighbor by blowing his car horn.

Mrs. Vernon Mardis suffered badly cut arms when she broke a window in an attempt to reach her children. Neighbors pulled her from the flaming building.

The children were Theima May, 5, Ruth Ann, 3, and Vernon Thomas, 2.

REBEKAH CHAPTER BIRTHDAY DINNER

Dining room of the First United Presbyterian church was the scene of the annual birthday dinner of the Rebekah chapter and their guests.

At 6:15 the hostesses, Miss Pearl Hutchison, Mrs. Charles Rhinehart, Mrs. Fred Walrath and Mrs. John Loudon, served a turkey dinner to about 66 members and friends. Hostesses were assisted in serving by the social committee, composed of Mrs. Theodore Lewis, Miss Kathryn Newbury, Mrs. J. C. Giffillan and Mrs. Arthur Kiefer.

Dinner decorations were in keeping with the Christmas season. When the dessert course came, individual birthday cakes, bearing lighted candles, were served. Each member of the chapter was served a slice of cake.

The Rebekah chapter is a missionary society, and the birthday dinner is one project that the members have for raising money which is used for missionary purposes. Each month a birthday bank is passed to the members having had birthdays during the month and that money is added to the monies raised at the dinner. At other times during the year missionary money is given by the members. The Rebekah chapter is a member of the Beaver Valley Missionary society of the W. G. M. S. of the United Presbyterian church. Any money raised by the societies pays the salaries of missionaries, is used to open new mission stations, etc.

A feature of the evening was the introducing of each person present by Rev. Robert H. Mayo, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, who named everyone present. That was considered quite a feat.

At the conclusion of the dinner the president of the society, Mrs. Robert Maxwell, introduced the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Orville Potter, who introduced the committee in charge of the evening's program, Mrs. David Reese, Mrs. Harry Dinsmore, Mrs. Harvey Bush and Mrs. Marie Smith. The committee had prepared a program entitled "The Christmas Tree Bears Fruit". As Mrs. Reese, Mrs. Dinsmore and

Mrs. Smith told of the fruit that the Christmas tree bore, Mrs. Harvey Bush trimmed a Christmas tree with the fruit of hope, the fruit of praise, the fruit of joy, the fruit of worship, the fruit of giving, the fruit of peace and the fruit of love. Another feature of the program was the singing of Christmas carols, at which time David Reese led the group in the singing of same. An appropriate solo was sung by David Reese. Mr. Reese is director of the choir of the First United Presbyterian church.

Rev. Robert H. Mayo closed the meeting with the benediction, which was followed by a get acquainted hour.

REAL WAGES

We hear a great deal of discussion from time to time about the difference between free economy and socialism. Soviet Russia is the outstanding socialist example. We have the socialists in power in Great Britain, it is true, but thus far they have been able to put only part of their plan into effect. But in Russia the Kremlin is king.

The Russian propagandists like to boast that there is no unemployment in Soviet Russia and everything is equal—there are no rich and no poor. The answer is, of course, that if everyone works, it is at labor furnished by the government, and he must do what the government tells him to do and accept the wages which the government awards him. There is no free labor and no free choice of jobs. And if all are now alike, the measure is the measure of poverty. If people are equal in Russia they are equally poor. The only ones who are better off than the mob are the Communist government officials and their friends.

We may compare money wages in the different countries, but after all the real standard of comparison is what a day's work will purchase in the way of necessities. A recent survey by the U. S. Labor Bureau reports that of eighteen countries surveyed the Soviet Union stands out as the one in which it takes the most hours of work to buy a loaf of bread or a pair of shoes. For example, it takes four times as much working time in Russia to earn a loaf of bread as in the United States. An American must work only 32 minutes to earn enough to buy a pound of butter while a Russian "brother" must labor for over nine hours. In Russia a pound of beef costs 4 hours and 14 minutes of labor as against 24 minutes of labor in the United States. Eggs are worth 27 minutes working time in our country and 2 hours and 38 minutes in Russia. The report continued:

"Among the countries covered, the purchasing power of hourly earnings was lowest in the U.S.S.R., where workers had to work four to seven times as long as United States workers to buy a given quantity of food."

"The food purchasing power of hourly earnings was next lowest in Italy and Austria; however" compared with the United States, the indexes of the purchasing power of earnings for these countries was approximately a third greater than that for the Soviet Union."

No wonder Russia keeps the Iron Curtain down and visitors away from Moscow.

HONEYMOON IS OVER

Blast of Senator Knowland of California at Washington's policy on China—or lack of it—serves notice that the congressional junketeers are returning and from now on the air will be palpitant with their denunciations and praises of this country's foreign policy.

Knowland points out that the United States has frittered away all its costly wartime gains in the Pacific through inaction while Russia took over the core of the Far East. Soon Russia will be in position to exert pressure on Japan, the Philippines, Indo-China, the East Indies and elsewhere. The entire eastern Pacific and Indian Ocean regions, in fact, may fall under Russian control. America took on the burden of western Europe and, as a result, has taxes that are far too high and a budget that, in prosperous times, is billions in the red.

Washington diplomacy has failed utterly in the Pacific, and there are no constructive suggestions as to what might be done to repair the situation in that area. Chiang the symbol of opposition to the reds, has been smeared. And he has no foothold in China. Supporting him or someone else in Formosa would work only if wishful thinking comes true—to wit, that the reds will make a mess of it in China and the Chinese will tie their hands through underground activities.

Senator Knowland's statement may mean that the foreign bipartisan honeymoon is over. But it would not be wise to bet upon this until Senator Vandenberg is heard from. Probably the most that can be looked for is that from now on policies will be ground out of hard and bitter debate, with the country somewhat better informed about the situation than it has been.

Colorado farmer who plowed under $1,000, only to dig it up the next day, isn't the first person to get a good return from the soil.

Being penny wise and pound foolish isn't as important as it used to be now that the value of the pound has been cut almost in half.

Democrats now have the professional pollsters on their side. It's a question whether that gives President Truman pleasure or pain.

We are not much afraid of the Russians. If they get too smart look what we can do to them with Hopalong Cassidy and the Lone Ranger.

Who says our Chinese policy hasn't been successful? From a band of outlaws in the mountains the Chinese Reds have spread over the country and are threatening to take in India and Formosa. The leader of the gang ought to send the State Department a nice Christmas card this year.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Communist leaders in Eastern Germany are reported "pounding" the ranks of their followers today and there are indications that Soviet Russia is encountering real difficulty in keeping its German satellite completely in line.

The specific charge is said to be "Titoism" and more than 200 Communists have been reported arrested and expelled from the party.

This has come to be a blanket allegation covering a multitude of real and fancied sins. It may be a long time before the truth seeps out from behind Eastern Germany's hermetically-sealed frontier, but there is some reason to believe that the suspected Germans are guilty primarily of national aspirations.

Rule Is Complicated
Soviet rule in Eastern Germany long has been complicated by keen resentment among the people over the apparently permanent detachment of East Prussia and Silesia from the body of the Reich.

Silesia is under Polish control and both Soviets and Poles rule East Prussia. There has been a growing movement in all Germany for restoration of territory taken away after the Second World War. It is particularly strong in the east, where some extreme Nationalists are demanding even the return of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland and are campaigning for a new "Anschluss" with Austria.

The Austrian claim—which in Allied eyes lacks the slightest semblance of validity—is being presented as a "measure of justice" for the Austrian people themselves as well as the Germans.

In many respects, Vienna is the logical capital of central and eastern Europe. It did serve in this capacity for many decades before the federation of imperial Germany.

Left Helpless
But both the first and second world wars left Austria in a thoroughly helpless state, dependent upon her neighbors and particularly on Germany. Those now agitating for a new annexation claim that a combined Austro-German republic would strengthen both nations and contribute much toward the integration of all Europe which ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman has ruled as vital for recovery.

The East German expansion movement obviously is more vocal than it is active. But it must be giving the Soviets some concern. Berlin reports say that there will be a number of "show trials" of the traditional Moscow variety, with abject confessions, charges of plots and counterplots, aggressive plans on the part of the western Allies and all the rest.

If these do take place, and if they are public, they may furnish some excellent clues regarding East German mentality and political development under Russian rule.

They may show, as a matter of fact, how Joseph Stalin's propagandists have been able to substitute communism for its presumed opposite—national socialism.

Had Little Difficulty
The Russians had little difficulty at first in winning support from the Eastern German people through heavy subsidies and a modified form of collectivization which did not take too much liberty and enterprise away from the ruggedly individualistic East German farmer.

However, creation of a 400 thousand-man armed police force which is a virtual army coupled with continued seizure of East German goods, produce and equipment for reparations have imposed a heavy drain on East German economy.

Public opposition to moves making Eastern Germany a mere cog in the Soviet machine while Western Germany is being geared back to normal by the United States, Great Britain and France has been mounting steadily.

The Soviets have attempted to offset this. But they clearly are unable to give the Eastern Germans what the latter want most—a free election in which they could speak their own minds and create a sovereign government, which might or might not link up eventually with the western regime at Bonn.

There have been many controversies in the western areas, both between the West German government leaders and the Allies and among the Germans themselves.

But there has been nothing even remotely approaching a situation where any "purge" would be necessary, or where the Allies have been compelled to assert their will either by forceful measures or economic reprisals.

It is quite obvious that a different situation prevails in the East. The "Titoism" of which the Russians complain may simply be evidence that public dissatisfaction over a dictatorial and one-sided rule has approached the breaking point.

SKID ROW

Realm of the spirits broken:
Haunt of the "ceased-to-care,"
Where seldom a word is spoken
Untainted with grim despair.

Skid Row—the hopeless valley
Where pitiful humans stay
Like rubbish that lines an alley,
Which unless, is thrown away.

Region of filth and squalor,
Sick mind and wasted frame.
Spot where the beggar's dollar
Buys only deeper shame.

This is the blight of the city
Where fortune and fame are made:
That only the few will pity,
And only the few will aid.

State Police Say:

A handout is a good turn. Not only from a standpoint of charity, but from the standpoint of safety. Drivers intending to turn right or left from a line of traffic should signal their intention of so doing by the use of hand signals, or approved mechanical signal, so that other drivers, affected by the movement of their car, may anticipate what you are going to do. Signals should be given in plenty of time to allow the driver behind you to regulate his driving accordingly.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

It's not very pleasant to say something in the heat of an argument . . . and then days later have it all thrown back in your face . . . But that is what is happening around the country . . . of course there is one way to keep things from coming back after the issue is supposedly closed . . . and that is to not say during an angry moment something you don't really mean.

Maybe you are saying . . . well some of the arguments that did take place during the recent political campaign need to be kept alive . . . could be . . . but there are ways of accomplishing good . . . and we don't like the idea of making goats out of the innocent bystanders. Yes, there could be ways of doing things differently . . . city, county and state . . . and let's not forget the Federal Government. Here in the County of Lawrence there will be a few new men in office . . . and also in the city will be new men and new women . . . Let's give 'em a chance to show what they can do.

A letter has just arrived from Hollywood . . . from a music publishing firm . . . It seems there is a new song on the market (which is nothing new) but this particular song should be of interest to the people of Lawrence County . . . The author is a local man . . . we haven't had the pleasure of meeting him but he is said to be from Volant . . . and gets his mail on Route 1 . . . Lindy Grandev is the gentleman's name. Sheet music from this new song is on sale at leading music stores under the title, "No Cobwebs On The Moon Tonight." We are not too musically inclined but the sample music that arrived with this notice seems like a nice tune when we attempt to hum it . . . See what you think about the lack of cobwebs on the moon when you hear it. So far we haven't heard it over the air.

Just a word of caution . . . Starting this Saturday . . . local merchants will open their places of business in the evenings . . . that's until the night before Christmas . . . But remember . . . stores will not be open Monday morning . . . they will open at 12:30, the regular opening time for all Mondays . . . hope you find what you want right here in New Castle. Happy shopping.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Creates Strange Impression Abroad

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Leading from strength is the only sound tactic, whether in cards or in the cold war that is dividing the world. Presumably that is what we are doing in the costly programs for military and economic aid in Europe and in Asia.

But here at home we seem determined to show ourselves as weak and divided as possible. Uncle Sam leads with a glass chin. Abroad, it creates a strange impression to see the colossus of North America cowering before his own shadow.

With the end of the war a new phase began. In spite of warning signs, our government made every effort to work with Russia's war-time ally, to build a peaceful world. This was leading from strength and confidence—the confidence of a victory won out of the power of American arms and American productivity.

With hindsight we may see that some foolish and totally unnecessary things were done in this post-war phase. Take an instance that has never been aired before any committee.

In early 1946 Moscow asked permission to send a group of Soviet engineers to the United States. They were to study the water systems of leading American cities so, presumably, they could go back to Russia and direct the construction of similar systems.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, was opposed to granting permission for the visit. He was overruled by the Department of State.

Got Much Information
The Soviet engineers came to America. They got measured drawings of blueprints of major water systems, including those of New York and Los Angeles, where huge populations are dependent for life on a stream of water piped over a long distance.

How much this information would help Russia in the event of war is not clear. The same knowledge might have come, although less easily, through Russian espionage. Such espionage is one of the grim facts of the present-day world; just as American espionage is a fact—and if it is not a fact, then the $500,000,000 or more which goes in secret to the Central Intelligence agency is being wasted.

Bent On World Domination
The third phase of Russian-U.S. relations began with the realization that the Soviet Union was bent on nothing less than world domination. The Communist parties in individual countries were instruments for aggression and control, wholly subservient to Moscow policy. The third phase saw the start of the cold war.

America has a strong moral position in the cold war, and the chief reason is because this country demonstrated to the world that it went the whole way in trying to work peaceably and honestly with Soviet Russia. That has been a fact of paramount importance too often overlooked.

The destroyers and the haters who rake over the past in the suddenly acquired wisdom of hindsight may make the headlines they are after. But these headlines do a deep wrong to America's position. And if they do any good, it is certainly not evident.

They Say

WASHINGTON—Ex-President Herbert Hoover: "I doubt whether more than 15 men in the world can make head or tail of the 10 million words and sums in the present federal budget."

OSLO, Norway—Lord John Boyd Orr, Nobel peace prize winner: "Limited war is an impossibility. It would be easier to outlaw war itself than any special weapon. Present leaders are not likely to take the first offensive. The danger is in inflated political atmosphere."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Aiken (R) Vt.: "If we have reasonably full employment and if prices and wages hold up, it will be difficult to take control of congress away from the Democrats."

NEW YORK—Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the Republican national campaign committee: "There is today a greater realization than ever that the Democratic administration is leading the nation straight down the dead end road to socialism."

Man After Lincoln

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—One of his biographers said of Abe Lincoln that "he never stopped growing"—and the same can be said of Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, Lincoln's own state.

The big, bushy-haired professor, an ex-Marine, came here less than a year ago to replace Republican Senator "Curly" Brooks. Possibly because of his obvious contrast with the reactionary Brooks, Douglas was expected to become an avenging angel of radicalism. Instead, he has turned out to be a hard-headed demon for hard work—a man who checked his preconceived ideas at Union Station before he walked over to Capitol Hill.

Preconceived is the right word because Douglas, like many of the political professors who afflicted us during the New Deal, used to be a theoretical Socialist. After that, he became a political reformer who fought Mayor Kelly's pork-and-patronage rule while a member of the Chicago City Council. This is a familiar enough pattern for the flaming youth movement in politics, and many professors in their sheltered lives never advance past the age of intellectual adolescence.

Changes His Attitude

Not so with Professor Douglas. The other day he remarked: "When I was young I believed that all problems could be solved. Now I believe that many of them have to be endured." This mature attitude—so different from the hot and hasty passion of professional liberals—has caused Douglas to come up with reasoned criticism of the Democratic Fair Deal whose ticket he graced a year ago last November.

His most recent critique is directed against the Fair Deal plan of medical-care-for-everybody. This has a fine and dandy sound, but Douglas is now pointing out the doctors' bills are one of those problems which can never be entirely "solved" and must be at least partially "endured."

He does not, however, stop at that seemingly hard-hearted conclusion. He calls upon the Fair Deal and the American Medical Association to find some common ground between all-out Federalized medicine and the high cost of private medical care. The Douglas plan, not yet formalized into a legislative bill, assumes that the average American family will and should invest about 5 per cent of its annual income in paying the doctor. He suggests that any compulsory health scheme should be confined to "catastrophe" cases among low-income groups, and not fastened upon the nation as a whole.

Proposes New Idea

In his press conference on this subject, Douglas explored this line of thought. He believes, he said, that sums collected for health insurance should be passed back to the states for local handling. This brings him in immediate conflict with many Fair Dealers who prefer to pool funds for welfare work, including health and education, and to administer them from Washington. This, say the Fair Dealers, is the only way to take from the rich states and give to the poor states. But Douglas takes the thoroughly realistic view that the process of federal redistribution creates more bureaucracy than it does welfare.

Douglas would like to see the health funds handled by non-government, non-profit insurance agencies like the Blue Cross and the Blue Shield. Such agencies, now existing in 46 states and the District of Columbia, have gone a long way toward putting prepaid medical care on a business basis. The Fair Deal health bill would effectively destroy these agencies, while the Douglas plan would make good use of them and widen their coverage.

Since the Douglas plan remains informalized, we cannot really tell how the fair deal and the AMA will go for it. But this much seems certain:

Has Powerful Opponent

The Fair Deal now has a powerful opponent to its health bill in Douglas who did not take sides when the matter was discussed in the last session of Congress. Chances are that the Douglas opposition makes it impossible for the Administration to enact its plan within the next several years.

The AMA, for its part, can no longer take a no-compromise attitude toward some form of federal or state health insurance. Chances are that the Douglas plan is the AMA's best opportunity to settle for something that will forestall something much worse.

Men like Douglas, with the capacity for growth, are rare enough in politics to demand attention. Such men lead—they do not follow—the march of new ideas.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It's a little late for a story about Thanksgiving. But just as I don't believe in religion should be practiced only on Sunday, so I can't see why Thanksgiving should be confined to one day in the year.

It was the evening before Thanksgiving. We had finished our supper and my wife and I were sitting before the fire in our living room.

Tomorrow was going to be Thanksgiving with all its little pleasures and its culinary complications.

Somehow, though, I couldn't get myself into the proper spirit for the occasion.

"What have I got to be thankful for?" I asked. "Didn't I just get a notice from the Internal Revenue Office asking me to come down with all my records for 1947?"

It was eight o'clock—time for the Arthur Godfrey television show.

I turned it on and we got the usual lot of laughs out of it, Godfrey being both my wife's and my favorite comedian.

Then—almost at closing time—Godfrey became serious.

"I hope you will enjoy a little Thanksgiving song we are about to sing," he said in substance. "It is a poem written by Ralph Waldo Emerson some years ago, but only recently set to music by a man who has been blind all his life and still finds so much to be thankful for."

And then they sang—the whole lot of them—Godfrey and Jeanette Davis, and Bill Lawrence, the Mariners, the boys of the band, his girls' quartet—and even Mugs Richardson, his lovely but very serious assistant.

And this is what they sang: "For flowers that bloom about our feet,

For tender grass, so fresh, so sweet,
For song of bird, and hum of bee,
For all things fair we hear or see,
Father in heaven, we thank Thee!"

"For blue of stream and blue of sky,
For pleasant shade of branches high,

For fragrant air and cooling breeze,
For beauty of the blooming trees,
Father in heaven, we thank Thee!"

When the last notes of the song had rung out I felt ashamed of myself for having asked what I had to be thankful for.

After the holiday I made inquiries about the man who wrote the music to that lovely poem.

His name is Glenn Hurlburt, a talented musician, who lost his eyesight in an accident when he was a baby in San Francisco.

He lives in New York City with his wife, also a musician, and the two of them are not one bit discouraged about his blindness or about life.

To them life is beautiful and joyous, because they have their love and they have each other.

They go to the theatre and the movies—she sees with her eyes and he with his heart.

To Glenn Hurlburt EVERY day in the year is Thanksgiving Day. Because, he thinks, by losing one thing that is of great value you learn to appreciate so much more the many things that are left.

Folks Of Fame

This noted operatic tenor, Jean de Reszke, was born in Warsaw, Poland, Jan. 14, 1850. He studied law before adopting singing as his profession and going to Italy to study. His first appearance was as a baritone. He was not successful, and retired for further study, during which his voice gained remarkably in the upper register.

On his return he sang as a tenor. He was a leading singer at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York from 1893 to 1899. He died in 1925.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

INFECTIONS

Health departments talk about infections and infectious diseases.

A child who has not had measles will probably get infected if he plays with a child who has measles. Sometimes we talk so much about infectious diseases that we forget about other infectious things.

Cleanliness is infectious and measles is too. Sometimes a clean meal family will influence a whole neighborhood.

Knowledge and education are infectious. A well informed properly educated man makes his neighbors want some too.

They say that a pig will not take the measles. Perhaps some people will not take these infections—Who wants to be a pig?

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

The annual Christmas party of the Woman's club will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the basement of the Presbyterian church for members and guests.

In place of the regular gift exchange, each member is asked to bring a gift suitable for packing in a box to send overseas.

Leaders for the program will be Mrs. Charles Aiken and Mrs. Lela Jackson. Refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PARTY

The members of the King's Daughters class of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual Christmas party Wednesday night in the church basement.

At 6 o'clock a turkey dinner will be served by the members of the Boethian circle. A brief business session and entertainment will follow.

BAGS DEER

Gene King, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. King of Clyde street, was successful in bagging a deer at 9:15 Saturday morning near Ridgeway. He accompanied a hunting party from Ellwood City and spent the weekend at their mountain lodge. All in the party were successful in bringing home a deer.

Scholars are not altogether agreed on the language spoken by Jesus. However, it is generally supposed that his native tongue was the Galilean Aramaic, a corrupted dialect of Hebrew proper.

Mother Writes To Hospital To Care For New Born Baby

Baby Found Nov. 14 Wrapped In Newspaper Saved From Death By Hospital

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—A remorseful mother who abandoned her new-born daughter in a garbage can appealed to the Pittsburgh hospital which "adopted" it to "please take care of my baby."

In a letter signed only "Mrs. N." and addressed to the Allegheny General hospital, the penitent mother wrote:

"The Lord is punishing me. I can't eat or sleep. I am going crazy."

The baby was found November 14 wrapped in newspaper and left in a garbage can. The infant was near death, and only the miracle of modern medicine was able to save her.

The mother wrote:

"I thought it was dead. It was blue. I could not feel any breath or heart beat. I would never have done it if I had known she was living."

"I have a little girl, five, and I have gone hungry for her so I would have got by somehow."

The letter revealed that no one, not even the woman's husband, had known of the child's birth.

Cantata Planned At Oak Street School

School Children Will Give Public Performance On Friday Evening At 7:45 O'Clock

"The Chorus in the Skies," a two-part cantata, is planned by the fifth and sixth grade music pupils of the Oak Street school, under the direction of Mrs. Perry Crowe.

The public presentation is to take place Friday evening, December 16, at 7:45 o'clock in the school building. A free will offering is to be lifted.

The music room of Mrs. Crowe has been beautifully decorated again this year by the energetic art students of the sixth grade. They have depicted nativity scenes as well as many other seasonal themes on the blackboards. Various sources were used, such as wrapping paper and other idea, in obtaining the material for their free hand sketching. When the

THINGS GO FROM FINE TO FINES

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Things went from fine to fines for a 22-year-old burglary suspect when he was exonerated by Chicago police.

Richard Zierlein was picked up for questioning in connection with a six-man burglary gang, but officials decided he was in the clear.

Zierlein thought so, too, until he was led into traffic court by Lt. Harold Enger of the burglary detail. Enger flashed 13 traffic summonses before Judge George B. Weiss and said they were found in Zierlein's auto.

The judge said he could tolerate "holding off on one or two traffic tickets. But 13—No!"

He fined the youth $166.

Junior Red Cross Members Helping In Season Effort

Pupils Of County's Schools Undertake Many Projects To Help Others

Members of the Lawrence County Junior Red Cross are busy with their preparations to help make persons in the hospitals and children overseas a little happier during the Christmas season.

A number of projects have been undertaken by the pupils in the county's schools under the sponsorship of the Junior Red Cross to help brighten the holiday picture.

Pupils of the BVM parochial school of Ellwood City put on a Christmas play at the Lawrence county home Saturday afternoon as a part of the Junior Red Cross program.

Among the other projects under way during the Christmas season is the gathering of toys by the boys to give to the Optimist club for re-pairing.

Also tray favors, trees and trimmings are being made for the hospitals.

Tray Favors

Four hundred holiday tray favors, in different designs, arrived at the Red Cross chapter house today from the SS Philip and James school and will be taken to Deshon hospital.

Lincoln-Garfield pupils are making tray favors for the local hospitals, and other schools are preparing to place trees and all the trimmings in the hospitals for Christmas.

All the children in the hospitals will be given toys and other presents by the Junior Red Cross members.

At the last meeting of the Junior Red Cross council trimmings and tray favors were made for the hospitals. Also it was announced that 512 gift boxes have been packed and sent to children overseas by the members.

A total of 61 schools in the county, slightly better than 75 per cent, are enrolled in the Junior Red Cross program. It is announced by Mrs. F. E. Eichholtz, Junior Red Cross chairman.

Seek $15,000,000 For Development At Penn State

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—A request to underwrite a $15,000,000 construction program at Pennsylvania State college is before the General State Authority, Pennsylvania's super building agency.

Acting President James Milholland and a group of college trustees called for help for the state's land grant college at a board meeting of the GSA.

Milholland told the board, headed by Gov. James H. Duff, that the program was "badly needed to provide facilities to develop the most valuable asset of Pennsylvania—the state's young men and women."

Penn State is completing a $16,000,000 building program for new dormitories and dining halls paid for out of college revenues, but Milholland said classrooms and similar buildings under the proposed $15,000,000 program must be paid for from public funds.

He told the GSA board the buildings would be used by students in eight departments of the college with special emphasis on the undergraduate schools of agriculture and mineral industries.

The demands of Pennsylvanians for Penn State services cannot be met "unless the General State Authority invests $15,000,000 in new buildings," Milholland stated.

Two million people in the United States will probably develop diabetes before they die.

Will Take Bids For Concessions On New Turnpike

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission announced it will call for bids January 4 for gasoline and food concessions on eastern and western turnpike extensions.

The commission planned seven stations on the 100-mile Philadelphia extension and four along the 67-mile route of the western leg. The highest bidder for each section will have exclusive right to sell gasoline on that particular extension.

Besides the service station concession, the two winning bidders will obtain the food business for those sections of the super toll road.

The concession on the 160-mile original turnpike section from Irwin to Carlisle is owned by the Standard Oil company of Pennsylvania which sublets the food section of the contract to a chain restaurant.

The monopoly aspect of conces-

Execution Date Set For Beaver County Slayer

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The electrocution of John William Givens, of Baden, Beaver county, admitted hatchet slayer of two fellow workmen two years ago, has been set for the week of February 27.

The execution date, fixed by Gov. James H. Duff, allows Givens time to appeal for clemency before the state pardons board's January session. He is to die in the Rockview penitentiary electric chair.

Newly Remodeled South Side Store Opens Thursday

Kantz Department Store,
118-120 East Long Avenue, Reopens Modern
Clothing Store

Completely remodeled throughout at a cost of several thousand dollars is the Kantz Department store, 118-120 East Long avenue, which is announcing its grand opening on Thursday, December 15, at 9:30 a. m.

The attractive clothing store has undergone an extensive face lifting job which makes it one of the most modern and most complete department stores, not just alone on the south side, but in the city of New Castle. Both inside and out, the renovation job has been so complete that old timers will hardly recognize the Kantz building which houses the completely new clothing store.

Morris Kantz, proprietor of the progressive business, has been in the retail clothing business since 1937 and since taking over the business has kept abreast with modern trends until he has expanded, taking over double the space he used formerly in serving his many friends and customers.
Everything is new save the building itself, from the beautiful glass front, through the store which has fine fluorescent lighting and flood lighting features to the modern blonde maple wood counters which enable shoppers to view with ease
the fine displays of merchandise.

Mr. Kantz invites the public to join with him in his step of progress which will enable shoppers to come and secure nationally advertised brands of merchandise in infants, children's and ladies ready to wear garments, as well as boys clothing and men's furnishings. He carries ample stocks of curtains, drapes, domestic good, blankets and piece goods in addition to his ready to wear clothing.

Among the nationally advertised brands of merchandise carried on the shelves of the Kantz Department store are: Mojud, Judy Lane,
Campus Brand, Princess, Lakeland and many others of high quality and national fame. Prices on his ample stocks are low compared with the trend of advancing costs.

A visit to the store will prove this.
In order to meet the needs of his old and new customers, Mr.
Kantz will have on hand a number of competent, courteous sales clerks who will be ready to serve all who may enter the store.

For the ladies a free complimentary rose will be presented on grand opening day Thursday. For the convenience of shoppers, the store will remain open from 9:30
a. m. to 9 p. m. daily until Christmas.

$12,712,000

according to the report of the Martin Committee on Liquor Advertising.
LIFE claims for its 1949 readership or audience 28,700,000. Of the number thus reached, 20 per cent (between five and five and one-half millions) are boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 19. Why do people drink these beverages? Is it not for the 4 to 50 per cent alcohol they contain? It is the verdict of science that alcohol is a narcotic poison and a habit-forming drug.

Youth Of 16 Years Faces Life In Prison

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 14.—(INS)— Raymond Welsh, 16, youngest person ever convicted of first degree murder in Essex County, faced today the prospect of spending the rest of his life in prison.

A jury of eight men and four women convicted him yesterday, after deliberating an hour and 15 minutes, of slaying his friend,
Fred Januszkiewicz, 15, last March in South Mountain Reservation, near Maplewood, N. J., the motive was believed robbery of $81.

The metal, copper, derived its name from the island of Cyprus was once noted for its copper mines.

Route 224 Traffic Will Be Counted By Highway Engineers

A man count of traffic on Route 224 west of the city is to be made starting Thursday and continuing over Sunday.

According to Alfred A. Martin, who will supervise the count which will be conducted on a 24 hour a day basis for the four day period, the work is being done in connection with the automatic counts which are being conducted in several areas of the county.

Motorists will not be stopped as the count progresses but only the number of type of vehicles will be tabulated by the workmen. Figures received from the general county wide tabulations will be used in future highway department planning and expansion programs, Mr. Martin stated.

Traffic in other sections is being recorded by automatic machines which have a tape attached to them. Everytime a vehicle passes over the tape, a count is made.

The superstition that finding a horseshoe and nailing it over the door brings good luck appears to be merely a modification of a belief in early times when horseshoes were rare and were believed to have a protective charm.

FIREMEN CALLED TO ACCIDENT SCENE

When the rear wheel of an auto owned by Henry Kirkwood, of 504 Martin street came off, on South Mill street, Tuesday evening at 7:50 p.m., puncturing the gas tank, gasoline leaked out onto the street, creating a fire hazard.

Truck company from Central station was called and washed away the accumulation of gasoline with the hose from their booster tank.

Local Tax Districts Reject Forgiveness Of Delinquent Taxes

Overwhelming Majority Of State Districts Reject Such An Act

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The overwhelming majority of local taxing districts in Pennsylvania have rejected an act permitting them to forgive delinquent tax penalties and interest, the internal affairs department reported Tuesday.

"Apparently many of the authorities of the political subdivisions," the department said, "were of the opinion that such an act at present would put a premium on non-payment of current taxes and is unfair to taxpayers who have regularly paid their current taxes."

The 1949 tax abatement law designed to give the delinquent taxpayer an opportunity to clear himself with the local tax collector and to encourage payment was rejected by 4,232 out of 5,229 local taxing districts or 81 percent, the department said.

The law provided for abatement of all penalties and interest imposed on unpaid delinquent county, city, borough, town, township, school district, poor district and county institution district taxes for the tax year 1948 and all previous years.

Forgiveness of penalties and interest hinged on payment of the entire delinquent taxes for years up to and including 1948 plus those for 1949, including interest and penalty, before November 1.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The internal affairs department announces an inter-state conference on state and local relations at Harrisburg January 24-25.

Mankind began using gold earlier than he used silver.

Kline Again Attacks Brannan Farm Plan

Says Guarantee Of Prices At All Times Beginning Of End Of Liberty

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—President Allan B. Kline of the American Farm Bureau Federation, an outspoken foe of the Brannan farm plan, attacked the proposal anew Tuesday when his organization opened its 31st annual convention in Chicago.

Kline told delegates representing nearly 1,500,000 farm families in the U. S. and Puerto Rico, that the "nation faces a choice between the prospect of rising living standards with freedom of opportunity and continued progress on the one hand, and on the other, mounting government restrictions and limitations."

"A government guarantee of high and profitable agricultural prices at all times is the beginning of the end of personal liberty for our farmers," Kline asserted.

He did not directly name the Brannan plan but said:

"There is an approach to farm problems being promoted currently which is best described as 'full parity for farmers, cheap food for consumers, and it won't cost anybody much.'"

The head of the large farmers' group said such a plan would leave farmers at the mercy of large year federal appropriations for their income. He added:

"Farm bureau policy with regard to price support legislation has been firmly based on belief in individual initiative and rewards based on work done, or service rendered. We call it free enterprise . . ."

THREE WEIGHT ADJUSTMENTS
Although Henry T. Jones, scaler of weights and inspector of measures, found no cause for arrests for weight shortage during November, he was required to make three adjustments of scales out of 347 examinations, which is not a bad record for scales. The report was delivered to council.

Trusteeship Council Agrees To Meet In Geneva Next Month

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 14. (INS)—The 12-nation United Nations trusteeship council agreed in private talks Tuesday to proceed to Geneva next month for the drafting of a statute for U. N. rule over Jerusalem.

Roger Garreau, president of the council, said at a subcommittee meeting that the group "definitely" will hold its winter session in the Swiss city instead of New York.

This development followed soon after Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion's announcement in Tel Aviv that Israel is continuing plans to transfer its capital to Jerusalem. The Israeli parliament also decided to transfer its seat to the Holy City.

Garreau declared that the trusteeship council most likely will meet at the end of January, when it will take up the drafting of the internationalization statute voted on by the general assembly on December 9.

Those on the committee were Mrs. Marie Berner, president of the unit, Mrs. Anne White, Mrs. Gertrude Eckenrood, Mrs. Ruth Brown, Mrs. Maxine Chiuazzi, Mrs. Irene Minner, Miss Katherine Schuller and Mrs. Castele. Plans for the Christmas dinner were also discussed by Mrs. Irene Minner, who will be in charge of arrangements.

SOAP CAUSES LOSS OF DAY'S RECEIPTS

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Gus Marsteller, proprietor of a Chicago grocery, complained to police that a bar of soap "cleaned" him of the day's receipts.

He explained: "A well-dressed man comes into my store and orders a bar of soap. As I straighten up after getting the soap from under the counter, I see he's pointing a revolver at me. 'No soap,' the man with the gun says, 'I want your money instead.'"

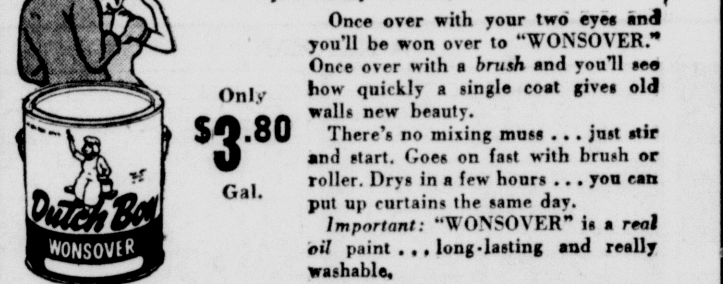

The grocer added: "He cleaned me out of the day's receipts, but left the soap." Try News Want Ads for Results!

To Present Play At Grove City

GROVE CITY, Dec. 14.—"Kind Lady," a psychological drama, will be presented by the Crimson Masque of Theta Alpha Phi in Crawford hall at Grove City college on December 16.

The second Crimson Masque production of the year, "Kind Lady" is a story of the dire results of a generous act on Christmas Eve.

Betta Neish, Carol Johnson, Edward Czerwinski and George Ihnatko, veteran players of the Grove City college stage, will act in the play "Kind Lady" as well as David Camp, Norma Poh, Kay Smith, Phil Cooke, Robert Sesler, Donna Keister, Doug Houston, Lois Idings, Virginia Marsh and Martha Nell Hill, who are newcomers to the Crimson Masque productions.

Miss Mary McNeven, the speech teacher at Grove City college, is director of the play, and William Hassler, a senior and a member of the Crimson Masque, is student director.

In the United States more is being spent annually per family on education than for the 1929-39 period. In the latter period $108 was the figure; now it is $120 per family.

26 DRUNKS ARRESTED

Intoxication in the city of New Castle was low last month, that is, if the records for arrests at police headquarters is a criterion.

Only 26 were docketed on a charge of drunkenness. However, eight others were jailed for the twin charge of being drunk and acting disorderly.

One other had three charges placed against him, namely, drunkenness, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

It's ALL BUICK—

and only $1865

ON some cars, it might not be such a standout news.

But when you read the price tags on this smart and sizable Buick SPECIAL of 1950—

When you listen to the throaty baritone of the big Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine that fills its bonnet—

When you feel its lift and surge on the road, sample the soft smoothness that's yours with coil springs on all four wheels (and wide Safety-Ride rims as well)—

When you see how neatly this beauty slips into pocket-size parking places, avoids "locked-horn" tangles, and threads its way through traffic—

When you take in its roominess, see its wide outlook, picture yourself traveling in the sleek, taper-fender styling that calls the turn on the smartest fashions for 1950—

When you hear some of the miles-per-gallon figures happy owners of this beauty are reporting—

Man alive, this stands out as a bargain that says, "Grab me quick!"

Actually, dealers have trouble keeping this particular model of the 1950 SPECIAL on hand. Quick action may be able to nail one for you—or a six-passenger model in 2-door or 4-door body-type.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14.—The big wheels of movietown, even the ordinary folks who earn only 50 of 60,000 bucks a semester, own nicknames.

Well-known names that glitter on the moviehouse marquees become "Butch" or "Dutch" or "Ham Bones."

When a director wants Barbara Stanwyck for a scene, he doesn't yell for "Miss Stanwyck" or even for "Barbara." He calls for "Missy."

Her colored maid tagged Barbara with the nickname years ago. "Missy" has become a household fixture. Hubby Robert Taylor named his airplane "Big Missy." The Taylor's pet poodle is "Little Missy."

Walter Houston, Barbara's current co-star in "The Furies," is invariably addressed by his chums as "Padrone," a handle affixed to him long ago by a Spanish-speaking assistant director.

Harry Lillis Crosby always will be known to the world as Bing. Bob Hope usually calls "Der Bingle" just "Lard."

Hope himself shorted his baptismal name of Leslie Townes Hope to plain Bob Hope. In his latest picture, "Fancy Pants," Paramount is using a new billing. The main title reads: "Starring Robert Hope (Formerly Bob)."

When Sir Cedric Hardwicke reported for work some years ago to play the legendary king in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," a wardrobe man did not know how to address the titled thespian.

"Call me Slats," said Sir Cedric. And "Slats" it has been ever since. Here are some nicknames commonly heard along star row. Would you recognize any of your flicker favorites by their off-the-screen monikers?

Prof.—for Gregory Peck; Slim—for James Stewart; Mommy—for Betty Hutton (mother of two); Princess—for Eleanor Parker; Butch—for Cesar Romero, also for Jackie Jenkins; Ham Bones—for Paul Douglas; Duke—for John Wayne; Killer—for Ann Blyth; Tiger—for Jeanne Crain; Freckles—for Myrna Loy.

King or Moose—for Clark Gable; Champ—for Kirk Douglas; Coop—for Gary Cooper; Livvy—for Olivia de Havilland; Dutch—for Ronald Reagan; Pidge—for Walter Pidgeon; Doll—for Arlene Dahl.

Fog—for Mel Tormé; Sexy—for Ava Gardner (and you know why); Cuddles—for S. Z. Sakall; Red—for Lucille Ball (who has that color of hair); Teddy—for Edmund Gwenn; and The Mick—for Mickey Rooney.

Reach Agreement On Wage Decrease

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Mayor Roy H. Stoller told Martinsburg city council that all administrative officers have agreed to take a ten per cent wage decrease.

Last week council cut salaries of municipal employees after being informed that the city faces a $101,000 deficit because the gross sales tax had been invalidated.

The mayor said he and other administrative officers volunteered although they are exempted by law from any salary decrease during their tenure, to make the pay reduction 100 per cent uniform. Council members who are paid $100 yearly were excepted from the ruling.

U.C.T. Christmas Party Planned

New Castle Council Will Have Dinner Party And Dance Friday Evening

New Castle Council No. 408, United Commercial Travelers of America, will have its annual Christmas dinner party and dance in The Castleton, Friday evening, December 16, it was announced today.

Howard Tindall is chairman of the program for the evening. Following the dinner at 6:30 o'clock, Santa Claus will put in his appearance with a sack of toys.

The latter part of the evening will be spent in dancing, with a good orchestra having been engaged for the occasion.

386 ARRESTS HERE

City police made 386 arrests during the month of November, according to the mayor's report to city council yesterday, and of that number 317 were levied fines in police court. Fourteen, charged with various offenses, were prosecuted before aldermen. Of the 307, 301 were auto law violators. Forty-four were a police court discharge.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Harry Hansen and Charlie MacArthur, bound for a luncheon in the Wedgwood Room of the Waldorf, entered the revolving door on the heels of an imposing figure in uniform. He wore gold epaulets, a plumed hat, three rows of medals on his chest, and carried a huge sword at his side. "Who can he be?" wondered Hansen. MacArthur answered in a confidential whisper, "Argentinian Secret Service."

Editor Jack Lait knows the importance of the lead sentence in a news story, and collects outstanding examples of some. One of the best, he thinks, was written by Hugh Fullerton for the old Chicago American. A gent discovered on his wedding night that his bride had a glass eye, and sued for annulment. Chronicled Fullerton: "Drink to me only with thine eye" proposed Steve Myalewski to his new wife—and she raised her glass."

The Gutenberg Bible, first Bible printed, was printed in Latin at Mintz, Germany, 1452-1456.

Pittsburgh Man At Portersville Rally

The regular meeting of the Portersville Youth for Christ will be held Saturday, December 17, at 8 p. m. in the Portersville U. P. church. Walter Bauder is leader of the service.

Special speaker for the evening will be Rev. Peter Boyco from the Sandusky Baptist church. He is the leader of the Pittsburgh Youth for Christ. There will also be special music by the male quartet and brass quartet which he will bring with him.

Mayor Lawrence Demands Better Police Service

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Mayor David L. Lawrence was expected to censure 39 Pittsburgh police lieutenants whom he has ordered to appear before him today at the police academy.

Observers said the mayor would order the lieutenants to improve discipline from top to bottom "or else". Previously Lawrence had criticized eight police inspectors and three high bureau officials at a Monday meeting. The mayor said he would have a meeting later with police sergeants. Police handling of the sex slaying of 38-year-old Jean Brusco in Pittsburgh last Nov. 25 has resulted in severe criticism of the mayor and law enforcement officials.

William H. Harrison, with six sons and four daughters, had a larger family than any other American president.

BRUSH-OFF
HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Those two stuffed pandas that got Humphrey Bogart hauled into a New York court on charges of roughing up a model didn't rate a second look from Bogie's nine-month-old son. Stephen merely went on playing with an old talcum can.

The Capitol Building in Washington, D. C., is situated on a plateau 88 feet above the Potomac river.

Rules Silence Is Not Divorce Cause

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—"It's often said: A husband's last refuge is silence—but the U. S. court of appeals holds that even 12 years of silence isn't enough for divorce grounds.

The ruling reversed a District of Columbia court decision granting a divorce to Mrs. Kathryn L. Moore, 65, from her spouse, Harry B. Moore, 58, a furniture salesman.

Moore's lawyer conceded that his client "didn't speak a word" with Mrs. Moore during the last 12 years of their married life, but denied other allegations in her petition.

The court held that the long silence resulted in no demonstrated "cruelty" toward Mrs. Moore.

Santa Busy Answering Questions Of Children

Children seem to delight in asking 'why' for everything they see or do. However, modern educators say that a child learns more quickly through his own initiative and curiosity, and that patience should be used in answering their many questions. It is sometimes wondered if the writers of those lengthy child psychology volumes have ever had tiny hands tugging on their skirts or pulling their hands and begging "why, daddy?" Then they would really know just how many hundreds of questions a child can ask during the course of a day.

Round about this time of year old Santa Claus steps into the picture and is the object of a barrage of questions which seem to lie sleeping in the minds of children the other fifty weeks of the year.

Creates World
It may be his jolly laugh or his bright red suit, but the appearance of St. Nick each year seems to create another world altogether for children the country over. Every day they beg their parents to take them to see Santa. What delights a child more than to climb upon his knee and nestle close in his arms, and feel the way his snowy beard tickles their cheek if they are very close.

"Santa, where do you keep your reindeer?" pipes up one tiny tot. "And do they really fly when you come around to the houses?" "My reindeer are busy getting ready for the big night of Christmas Eve when we take toys and goodies to children all over the world," says old Santa.

"Where's the North Pole, Santa, and is it really cold there," inquires one child. "My home is surrounded by ice and snow," says St. Nick, "that is why I wear my heavy red suit and big boots." One little girl wrote a letter to Santa and would tell no one what she wanted or what was in the letter. "Santa will know," she said, "and he will see that I get everything."

Santa Remembers
Another child was taken to see Santa, and climbed right onto his lap without the least bit of hesitation. "What would you like for Christmas," he said. "You'd better write it all down," replied the little boy. "Santa can remember it all, so just tell me what you would like." The child proceeds to tell a long list of things wanted for Christmas. Then, a few days later the child is taken to a Pittsburgh store and again sees Santa. "What would you like for Christmas," says the old Saint. "See, I told you to write it all down when I saw you in New Castle," says the boy.

Still other children wonder how

Santa comes down the chimney with his great pack, and how he can carry toys for every boy and girl in the world all at one time. "Are you really Santa Claus or just one of his helpers?" asks one little girl?

For two weeks of every year, Santa is kept busy remembering all the things that the little children want for Christmas. Not only that, he has to answer the never-ending questions that children ask. Maybe that is why he "retires" to the North Pole the rest of the year.

George Washington never actually occupied the White House.

Jake LaMotta Example Of Low In Fight Scene

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Jake LaMotta, has decided when he intends to defend his middleweight title again—and probably lose it to Robert Villmain of France—is a prime example of the depths boxing has reached.

LaMotta won his crown on a freak quirk anyway, beating Marcel Cerdan when the late French stylist had only one arm to work with, but certainly his name alone conjured up something better than the LaMotta that got belted around by Villmain in the non-title fight at Madison Square Garden last Friday.

Villmain Peculiar

This Villmain is a funny kind of fighter. He wears white shoes, which always seem to turn an athlete into something that looks like it should be playing for Vassar, and he bounces around like a cork in the ocean.

Rarely, if ever, does he swing from the heels, as the expression goes.

He is more of a pawing sort of fellow who, when he is not swinging, holds his gloves up along the sides of his head and peers out with the white of his eyes large and unhappy.

None of this kept him from slamming LaMotta into near unconsciousness last Friday night, and it reminded many people that Villmain should have won over LaMotta last March, too.

LaMotta got that one on a split decision, but the two officials who voted for him were surprised forthrightly by the New York Boxing Commission. The call was that rank.

LaMotta Champ?

What it all boils down to, then, is that LaMotta hasn't turned in a championship-brand fight in a year's time.

Yet, within that year, he has become the middleweight champion of the world, accorded all rights, privileges, and varied monies that so accrue.

He even went so far as to blame his showing against Villmain Friday night as being caused by a lack of condition. Was that Villmain's fault? Is LaMotta the champion or isn't he?

Such flabby conditions exist all through boxing's upper echelon. Ezzard Charles is light-weight champion by virtue of having beaten Jersey Joe Walcott, Gus Lesnevich and Pat Valentino.

Maxim's Plight

Lesnevich lost to Joey Maxim, whom Charles just managed to outpoint the night before Joe Louis retired, so through some strange combination of circumstances, Maxim, a weak puncher anyway, doesn't get to fight Charles for the title.

Instead he is the North American light-heavyweight champion by virtue of having beaten Lesnevich before Charles did.

Going down to the next weight level, you get LaMotta, who is either over the hill or not trying or possibly both, as middleweight king.

A bouncing Frenchman who wears white shoes is fixing to take his title away from him, too. The best thing around is Sugar Ray Robinson, the welterweight champion, who could beat LaMotta with two fingers, and therefore under the reasoning that assails boxing these days, undoubtedly won't get the chance.

Archie Moore Kayos Morrow

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Leonard Morrow, Oakland, Cal., light-heavyweight knocked out by Archie Moore in Toledo last night, was reported in fair condition today at St. Vincent's hospital.

Doctors said x-rays would be taken today to determine whether Morrow suffered a concussion. Moore knocked out Morrow in the 10th round of their scheduled 15-round bout.

The Toledo light-weight said he has been promised a match with Joe Maxim of Cleveland for the title.

Union Junior High Defeats Bessemer

Umpiring, insofar as one can detect a difference in technique between the National and American leagues, is a state of mind; no more.

Evans City Edges Shenango Hi, 41-34

Evans City edged Shenango High basketball team 41 to 34 last night at Shenango.

The game was close all the way and the visitors had a one point lead at halftime. The Wildcats, playing without the services of veteran Bill Getchey, injured, could not quite take the pace in the second half.

Carey led the Evans City scorers with 12. Johnny Allen, Shenango center, was tops in the game with 14.

Colgate-LIU Garden Winners

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Colgate and Long Island University basketballers supplied a pair of upsets last night at Madison Square Garden before 12,000 fans.

But in the LIU games, football referees would have been more appreciated.

Not only did the Oklahoma Aggies lose to LIU by a 38-31 count, but they lost the favor of the New York fans by resorting to football tactics in the last four minutes to send Adolph Bigos and Leroy Smith to the hospital.

In the preliminary game, New York University booted away another lead to lose to Colgate 83-73.

Ageless Sammy Baugh has "retired" from pro football more times than marrying Tommy Manville has wed, but today the Washington Redskins' ace is still the game's best passer.

Take it from Commissioner Bert Bell that National League cash customers are getting more football for their money than ever before.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

PROFESSIONAL wrestling showed up boxing, hockey, and basketball at Madison Square Garden Monday night, and television could be blamed or credited with the result.

The Garden put on a grunt-and-groan show featuring Antonino Rocca, South American grappler and Gene "Mr. America" Stanlee, Chicago heavyweight, and 17,854 fans paid $50,639 to witness the proceedings. It was wrestling's largest crowd in twenty years.

When Middleweight Champ Jake LaMotta fought Robert Villmain in a non-title bout last Friday night at the Garden, only 9,599 fans showed up and paid $33,476.

But there's a gimmick.

The boxing bouts Friday night were televised. Monday night's wrestling show was not.

Rocca, an exceptional athlete who makes astounding use of his bare legs in the ring, and Stanlee, a well-built blond Adonis, have built up a tremendous video following.

And their admirers flocked to the Garden to see them when the television was cut out.

Rocca's footwork was too much for Stanlee. After 24 minutes and 17 seconds, the Argentinian ended the match by pinning "Mr. America" with a drop kick and a body press.

Primo Carnera, former heavyweight boxing king, pinned Jim Henry, an ex-Oklahoma football player, in 9:38 in the semi-final.

New Castle occupies a position similar to New York, relative to the drawing ability of wrestling and boxing.

The last boxing show here drew less than $500 while the last wrestling show attracted $1,183, in paid patrons.

Tonight in The Arena, Chief Don Eagle wrestles Frederick Von Schacht, a former German in the main bout, and a good turn-out of fans is anticipated.
